DETAILED ACTIONResponse to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 6/21/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive to overcome the rejections of the previous Office Action.

Applicant has argued that page 6, lines 5-7 which shows that the etching depth difference in the mesh is produced on the entire surface of the finished door, and the texture of wood can be expressed on the finished door, either directly or indirectly discloses the meaning of "mesh"

The argument is not persuasive since "the etching depth difference" refers only to a difference in etching depth when repeating etching step (S320 in Fig. 1) and does not describe the mesh transfer step (S310) or the meaning of "mesh" either directly or indirectly. The fact the mesh is produced on the entire surface of the finished door, and the texture of wood can be expressed on the finished door does not teach what a mesh is or how it may assist in forming a wood grain pattern on the finished door.

Applicant has pointed out that the amended specification discloses how the mesh is applied by spraying. However the amended specification is objected to as containing new matter as recited below. Further the amended specification does not describe how a mesh may be sprayed to form a wood grain pattern instead of a random pattern.

Applicant has argued that page 4 lines 13-21 discloses how the etching area is etched. However, the cited portion of the specification discusses step (S200) and does not teach anything about step (S300)

Specification

The amendment filed 6/21/06 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure recites that "Under the spraying method, a liquid which can resist the etching chemicals, for example an acid-resistant substance is sprayed onto the mold where the pattern forming process has been carried out. By the spraying of the liquid, the mold has a mesh pattern of the liquid. The mesh pattern is a state that the particles of liquid is scattered on the surface of the mold by spraying'

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement.

Claim 1 recites a mesh forming process comprising transferring a mesh onto the etching area using a spraying method, but does not explain what the "mesh" is, how it is applied by spraying method, how the "etching area" of the mold is etched, since the mesh is "transferred onto the entire etching area", or how the mesh process pattern relates to the patterning process pattern in forming a wood grain pattern or texture.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1-6 are further rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential steps, elements and structural relationships between elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the method steps. See MPEP § 2172.01.

Art Unit: 1763

As recited above, claim 1, recites a mesh forming process comprising transferring a mesh onto the etching area using a spraying method, but does describe the process. Further since the "mesh" is not an art recognized term, the limited description precludes a reasonable search of the prior art by the examiner.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
